

Welcome,

First let me say I am really glad you have decided to reach out. God never designed us to walk in this life alone. In both times of burdens & blessings, pain & joy, we are meant to come alongside one another.

God pressed upon my heart many years ago to be one of his disciples that would walk with those who are broken and lost whether that is for only a day or a lifetime.

It's an honor for me to be used by God in this way. For many years I was broken and lost and at times still can be, even with all of my training; and then I remember who I belong too.

I have hope for the future and I want that for you too, so does God. Please read through and sign the documents if you are clear in their intent and agree to any/ all terms.

Growing together
in his Truth &
Love,
